

Disclaimer

Conditions of use for this website

Use of the website www.project2.be (hereinafter "the Website") is subject to the following conditions of use. By visiting our website, you indicate that you agree to these conditions.

Project² and related parties, the owner of the website, shall retain the right to modify the conditions for use of this website at any time, without any restriction whatsoever, and without any need for prior written notification.

Limitation of liability

Although Project² and related parties make an effort to ensure the quality of the information on offer on the Website, they give no guarantee as to the accuracy, completeness and up to date nature of said information.

Project² and related parties shall not be held liable for typing errors or any other types of errors or defects regarding the Website. Project² shall under no circumstances be held liable for indirect damage, damage to image, loss of data, loss of profits or turnover, loss of savings, slowdown of activities and/or any other form of financial or commercial damage, and this even if Project² and related parties are informed of the possibility of occurrence of such damages.

Websites to which hyperlinks are placed on the Website are not controlled by Project² and related parties; Project² and related parties cannot be held liable for unlawful content or the commercial policy on these websites or for any hyperlinks that these websites themselves contain to other websites. The presence on the Website of a hyperlink to the websites of third parties shall in no way imply an approval or guarantee of quality on the part of Project² and related parties. Project² and related parties created these links exclusively with a view to providing their users with complementary services or information.

Project² and related parties shall also not be held liable for any possible risks such as viruses or software or hardware failure which may occur as a result of a computer accessing the Website.

Protection of personal information

Project² and related parties shall undertake to uphold and protect the privacy of users of the Website and their personal information. Project² and related parties shall also undertake to comply with the Belgian Law of 8 December 1992 governing the protection of privacy with regard to the processing of personal information.

In principle, visitors to the Website can access it without needing to provide any personal information. In order to deliver certain services offered on the Website, Project² and related parties must nonetheless have some data available, such as, depending on the case, name, address, telephone number, e-mail address, etc.

Project² and related parties are responsible for the processing of the personal information gathered via the Website. Moreover, Project² and related parties shall take all necessary measures to ensure that personal information processing takes place in a secure manner. All personal information that you pass on to us remains strictly confidential. It is entered into the Project² and related parties internal databank, and will not be passed on to third parties.

The personal information will be used exclusively for the following purposes: information about our products and services, direct marketing or promotion activities, statistical analysis and the improvement of products and services. Through the provision of your information, you agree to us using your personal information for direct marketing by Project² and related parties.

The Website uses "cookies", and this with a view to improving the provision of services. Cookies are small electronic files which are placed on the hard drive of the user's computer. The cookies put in place by the Website have as their sole purpose the sending of communication via the execution or simplification of an electronic communication network or the delivery of a service explicitly requested by the Website user from the information society.

The user can configure his web browser so that it provides information about the reception of a cookie or offers the possibility of refusing the installation of a cookie. The user is however advised that if he refuses the installation of cookies, some web pages of the Website may not open correctly or may even be inaccessible.

The user can exercise his right to access, improve and, in the event of direct marketing, remove his personal information free of charge by way of a sending a written, signed and dated request to this end, along with a recto-verso copy of his identity card, by standard post to De Keyserlei 5, PO box 20, 2018 Antwerp or by e-mail to info@project2.be. If this is an electronic identity card, an official proof of residence is also required.

Intellectual property rights

a. Content and presentation of the Website

The Website is an original creation of which both the content and the structure are protected by copyright and other intellectual property rights. The logos, symbols, images and sounds are also protected by copyright. Any whole or partial reproduction, distribution, translation, adaptation or integration into another website, under any form and in any way whatsoever, is forbidden without the express prior written authorisation of Project² and related parties.

b. Documents

Project² and related parties grant the right to use the documents made available on the Website (such as texts, tables, photos, maps, plans etc.) provided (1) the reference to Project² and related parties' copyright is clearly and legibly presented on all reproductions that are made of these items, (2) these documents are only used for purely informative purposes and are not commercially exploited, not distributed in the media or placed on any IT system or network, and (3) no changes whatsoever are made to these documents. All instances of use that go against these conditions are expressly forbidden.

c. Names

Brands and names mentioned on the Website, such as product, authority, commercial and company names may be legally protected.